Older Drivers

(See also Notes on Transportation and Mobility, Disabilities, Low Vision and Aging and Alzheimer Disease and Related Dementia)

As individuals age, changes in vision, physical strength and cognition can contribute to a loss of self-confidence and ability to operate a motor. Some older adults equate the prospect of losing one's drivers license as a loss of independence and personal freedom. Faced with this choice, some older adults risk personal injury rather than give up their driver's license. State motor vehicle and local law enforcement agencies have different perspectives on the risks of older drivers. Internet sites selected here reflect a broad spectrum of public policy viewpoints as well as practical advice for elders and their concerned family members.
